Young ladies may be beautiful, but nothing is more attractive in this world than a lovely old lady, with her white hair, her rosy face, wrinkled it may be, but with eyes beaming with kindness even through her spectacles. But what can be sadder than a sickly old lady, who suffers and feels that she is a burden to those around her. and whose joy in life has departed! Is it not sor-

But there is really no need for elderly ladies to be weak or sickly. They can build up their health and keep it after it is once secured if they will only adopt the right means. Many aged people have discovered a way to renew their strength and vitality when they feel weak and worn out, and others may profit by their experi-ence. Here is a recent opinion on this impor-

ence. Here is a recent opinion on this important subject:

Mr. Walter P. Chapman, 29 Hanover St., Baltimore, writes: "My grandmother, who is past 90 years of age, has been using Duffy's pure malt whiskey for about three years and it has acted almost like a charm. It has always given her an appetite and prevented any disorder of the stomach. She could not do without it."

In the above and thousands of other cases, fuffy's pure malt whiskey has proved a godsend to elderly men and women who lacked health and strength. This is because it is a wonderful tonic and nerve food. Therefore, be sure and get Duffy's pure malt, no matter how much you may be urged to try something cheaper.

MODELS NOT TO BE EXHIBITED.

A DISAGREEMENT BETWEEN THE NATIONAL

The models made by artists competing for the right to make the Sherman statue, which is to be erected in Washington, will not be put on exhibition. The National Sculpture Society, which announced the award some menths ago and had arranged to give the exhibition, is compelled to society, has given out the following explanation:

"The society deeply regrets that the exhibition cannot be held, but feels that it is without blame in the matter. The announcement in regard to it was not made until all concerned had consented to the use of their models. The delay was caused by the absence of Carl Rohl-Smith, the successful competitor, in Europe. Everything seemed favor-able for an effective exhibition, when the following letter from Mr. Rohl-Smith, addressed to me, made further action impossible:
"'Upon my return from Washington I find your favor of the 5th inst., hence my delay in answering. My last intercourse with the National Sculpt ure Society was an exchange of telegrams upon the day after my model was chosen by the Sher-man Statue Commission, in which I stated that I would exhibit my sketch model, together with those of the other competing artists, when I returned from Europe in the fall.

those of the other competing artists, when I returned from Europe in the fail.

"Since then the action of the National Sculpture Society toward me, a member of the society, and toward the Sherman Statue Commission has been such as to make it, under the circumstances, impossible for me to take part in any further exhibition of the models.

"Mr. Rohl-Smith certainly wrote under a singular misapprehension of the case, since the society has never, in any way, reflected upon his character or standing, personal or professional, nor even criticised his procedure. It has not taken steps to which he, as an artist or man, could take the slightest exception. What the society did object to was the manner in which the competition was closed and the award made, and to the assumption of a committee of soldiers and civilians that they knew better than a committee of sculptors and architects (chosen by themselves and having studied the original models) which was the right design. The society also objects to the apparent breach of faith with the competing sculptors, who had every right to expect that the award would be made according to that chosen expert opinion.

"No one has blamed Mr. Rohl-Smith for accepting the commission. Those whom the society has blamed are the officials who selected a work of art for other than artistic reasons. It is not necessary to speculate on the motives of those who led him into taking such a stand. They have succeeded, however, in furnishing another example of deporable methods, and have done everything possible to preclude even helpful criticism until too late to be of use."

The one hundred and fortieth anhiversary of the was celebrated yesterday in the church building, Ninety-sixth-st. and Central Park West. Dr. David G. Wylle, pastor of the church, yesterday morning delivered an historical address. The first church building was in Cedar-st., between Broadway and Nassau-st. The cornerstone of the present church building was laid on May 30, 1894, and on December 30 of the same year the church was dedicated, free of debt. The church has had only six pastors in its long career.

is of great importance in a servant; it is not sufficient that a servant be willing to work and anxious to please; there must also be a perfect acquaintance with the minor details of the position to be filled;
lack of this know-dee detracts greatly from the servant's value; it is our constant endeavor to supply well-trained servants to our patrons.
